

ABSTRACT

An additive for internal addition, which improves the paper qualities of a pulp sheet, such as stiffness and bulk which includes a polymer emulsion containing a natural cationic polymer (A) or synthetic cationic polymer (A') and polymer particles (B) containing vinyl monomer-derived structural units.